To whom it may concern

I strongly recommend Achlada - Mourtzanakis Residence for anyone who wishes to visit the beautiful Greek island of Crete.

Each individual house within the area of the residence is discreetly self contained, minimal yet extremely stylish. The setting is stunning, immersed in a green hill, overlooking the sea and not distant from Heraklion.

The owner and his wife are charming and very helpful; they have many suggestions regarding places to visit. It is a very comfortable, restful place and is also suitable for families, seminars or groups.

Yours faithfully,

Marina Colonna
